

SIMENONA MARTINEZ
INVENTOR/ARTIST

Simenona Martinez (Si-Me-Own-Nah), is an American actress, singer, model, author, painter, recording artist, songwriter, music producer, philosopher, inventor, scientist, scholar, public speaker, entrepreneur, speech writer, political and military strategist.

Simenona Martinez is of Arawak Native American, Irish, Italian, Serbian, Israeli and Black background. She is Jewish. She has an extremely loving adoptive family.

She is a genius with an I.Q qualifying for The Triple Nine Society, HSP, profoundly gifted adult, a Prodigious Savant with ASD and Hyperlexia. She is a multi-instrumentalist and trained opera singer.

Simenona grew up in both Northern and Southern California. She began training in dance and gymnastics at the age of 5 by her Russian mentor and coach.

She was a competitive gymnast, a power tumbler and performer. She is trained in Jazz, Tap, Ballet, Modern and Hip-hop.

She is also trained in martial arts, tennis and enjoys equestrianism. At the age of 5, Simenona taught herself ASL (American Sign Language). By the age of 7, she wrote her first feature film script.

She began composing classical music and songwriting in elementary school.

She took to engineering and science rather quickly by building fully functioning intricate roller-coaster designs in her backyard.

Her poems and drawings were published in elementary school.

At the age of 10, she began participating in local theaters. She was a chess champion in middle school and high school. She was the lead attorney in mock trial and also took part in leadership and anime club.

In high school, she moved to San Francisco, where she was a member of The Olympic Club.

C O N T A C T

Anonemis Research, LLC
137 S. Robertson Blvd #125
Beverly Hills, CA 90211

Simenona@AnonemisResearch.com
(415) 227-0630

She made the Dean's List in College, and she maintained a perfect G.P.A. while studying medicine. She has countless awards in academia.

She was educated at Stanford University, at the School of Medicine with a focus on Medicine and the School of Economics: Game Theory.

Harvard University, School of Medicine: Neuroscience.

MIT, Massachusetts Institute of Technology: The Schwarzman College of Computing with a focus on Computation and Cognition/Science, Technology, and Society: Cybersecurity. Simenona special area of focus is that of Quantum Computing.

Princeton, in the Department of Computer Science with a focus on Algorithms.

National Research Nuclear University (MEPI), Institute of Nuclear Physics and Engineering: Physics and Technologies: Nuclear Science and Engineering. Research Nuclear Reactors.

In addition to completing her certification in IBM Cybersecurity, IBM Full Stack Software Developer Professional Certificate, CGEIT—Certified in the Governance of Enterprise IT, Certified Homeland Security Professional and she is also an active member of the National Sheriffs' Association.

She is currently training as a pilot. At 18, she enlisted into the Air Force, however, she was turned away due to her struggle with chronic illness. She is an avid reader, amateur historian, aviation enthusiast, car and motorcycle curator and an outstanding orator.

She also worked at MySpace during the onset of social media, as well as several Fortune 500 companies. She was also accepted into to the Peace Corps but fell into a Systemic Lupus Erythematosus Flare up. She is an absolute social recluse and an extremely private person. Inspired by Mother Teresa, Simenona has lived her entire life as public servant by choice.

At the age of 16, Simenona wrote, directed, produced, and edited her first film entitled "Black and White." This film was created as a

Keynote Subject:

Genius of Perseverance

Simenona has overcome a lifetime of hardship, trauma, and chronic illness but despite it all has never given up.

- I. Your Story Doesn't Define You
- II. Odds Aren't in Your Favor but Get Even
- III. Self-Sustaining
- IV. The Goals
- V. The Glory
- VI. Ending is the Beginning to Maintaining

Interviews:

- Inventor Simenona Martinez Releases Latest Book of Cutting-Edge Studies and Innovations
- Inventor Simenona Martinez Releases Breakthrough Book in Science and Technology
- Prolific Author Simenona Martinez Releases Four New Books of Comedy, Poetry and Quotes

means to improve race relations, which has been close to her heart since an early age. She was harassed and forced to stand up to skinheads and neo-Nazi's who drew swastikas on her locker in high school. Ironically, the members of those hate groups had to watch her film as part of school curriculum.

The "Black and White" documentary project was later honored at several well-known film festivals both around the U.S. and internationally, including the Los Angeles Film Festival. Immediately after completing the film, she opened a production company in San Francisco where she took her writing and producing skills to the next level. She developed her first magazine in high school.

Simenona worked with the San Francisco Mime Troupe on various projects. Her monologue, which she wrote and performed at 16, earned her an unprecedented two-minute standing ovation in the San Francisco Diego Rivera Theater. She has genius comedic timing, as she is professionally trained in the Art of Improv. She is sharp, with superior memory recall and extremely quick-witted.

She also signed on with San Francisco's at Warner Brothers was nominated for an Emmy Award. Simenona wrote a spot entitled "Imagine" that won an honorable mention for a Froggy Award, the national award for The WB/CW Television Network. With her own production company at 16, Simenona's focus has always been solely on bringing awareness and her projects to this day, reflect that. At 17, she began grant writing to fund after school programs and resources for lower income areas.

Simenona has taught children with learning differences, special needs, and behavioral problems. She taught at the iconic Kids on Camera acting school, headed by Sesame Street's voice actor, Judy Berlin. Simenona also taught low-income children in Bayview-Hunter's Point. She has a passion for teaching in all mediums. She volunteers at many nurseries and battered women's shelters, and often does speaking engagements to help survivors of abuse. She is a very vocal activist who has worked with countless charities. She is a foster parent for various animal shelters and a dedicated rescuer. Simenona went on to receive other awards for her work with WB20 and public service. She was also featured twice on the cover of Summer Blast Magazine.

From 2007 through 2010, she hosted the Disney Channel Playhouse Disney show "Behind the Ears."

In 2007, she appeared alongside John Amos, Anthony Mackie, and Ving Rhymes in the film Ascension Day. In 2008, she acted in the film entitled "Interruption".

Speech:

Why I Might Run For President: Something to Consider – Simenona Martinez

Simenona also starred in Rob Cohen's 2012 blockbuster film, Alex Cross, headlined by Tyler Perry, Matthew Fox, and Cicely Tyson.

As the founder and president of Sioni Academy, which focuses on developing self-esteem, self-confidence, and self-assurance in children, Simenona is able to actively give back to the community. Her production company, Sioni Entertainment, currently focuses on documentaries and public service announcements, and works with various organizations that advocate for a variety of causes including lupus, invisible illnesses, sexual assault, arts education, bullying, and poverty.

In addition, she is the creator and CEO of Certainly Her Magazine, which focuses on empowering women. She has also done various public speaking engagements for various industries.

She is a pioneer in the women's movement, working as an undercover special agent by encouraging and offering prostitutes resources to escape the lifestyle on Craigslist, working in conjunction with the I am Jane Doe project. She also assists with the Amber Alerts, donating personal funds to each case to help ensure fast recovery. Simenona worked in management for Fox Interactive Media. She worked for a top firm in construction and engineering, where she assisted with the construction of the San Francisco Bay Bridge as well as the Golden Gate Bridge.

Simenona released her first EP, The Awakening, in 2012, followed by the EP, Can't Stop in 2013. She started her own record label, Anonemis Records, on which she released the 2018 LP, Equilibrium. She writes and co-produces all of her music. In 2019, Simenona also released several spoken word albums: Cocaine Aneurysm, 2Motivate, the Anonemis Mind, and In the Key of Strife. Since then, she has released subsequent albums in each series.

In March 2021, Simenona released A Prelude to ThRee. This album is a teaser for Martinez's upcoming album, ThRee. In June of 2022, Simenona dropped the instrumentals for ThRee, 3 60's Instrumentals. Simenona also published a book of her visual artwork entitled

The Anonemis in 2018 and the follow ups, The Anonemis, Too, The Anonemis III: The Evaluation, and Anonemis For, in 2019. The next volumes, Anonemis V, Anonemis VI and Anonemis VII were released in 2020. Her art series on faces, About Face, and About Face: Vol 2, was also completed in 2020. Later the same year, she released Anonemis VIII, and in 2021, followed that up with Anonemis IX, Anonemis X, Anonemis XI and Anonemis XIII.

A master of the comedic arts, Simenona also released a compilation of her humorous musings: In the Interests of Comedy, Volume 1, Volume 2, Volume 3, Volume 4, Volume 5, Volume 6 and Volume 7.

Podcasts:

- 2Motive Season 1
- 2Motive Season 2
- 2Motive Season 3
- 2Motive Season 4
- 2Motive Season 5

Things Said By Me is another compilation in the vein of comedy, also released in 2020. Things Said by Me Volume 2, was subsequently released in 2021.

Simenona published another series of creative writing which displays were versatility and eclectic nature: The Misspellings of Simenona: Volume 1, Volume 2, Volume 3, Volume 4, Volume 5, Volume 6 and Volume 7. She also released a collection of her other writings entitled: The Articles of Incorporation.

In 2020, Simenona also launched the fashion line House of Authority: Dried in Ink inspired by the Act of Musing, as well as the Lip-gloss line Viva dal Lola as a part of her Lola dal Vivo line which was launched in 2007.

Simenona studied Law, Security, Medicine, and Astrophysics, which inspired her to start a Tech Company, Scigenity Tech in 2002.

In 2019, in response to being cyber-stalked and harassed on social media, Simenona created an anti-stalking app, called Hawwk. She also published a scientific study regarding online behavior:

The Behavioral Science of Online Harassment. With this report, which was one of the first comprehensive studies of its kind, Simenona introduced the concept of cyber-microexpressions in regard to antagonistic behavior online.

In 2020, Simenona published much of her scientific research in her book: The Studies & Innovations of Simenona Martinez. Later in the same year, she released Volume 2 of the same book. In 2021, she followed that up with the Volume 3 of the series, and in February 2022, she released Volume 4 and Volume 5, and Volume 6.

Simenona also founded Anonemis Research in 2019. The company is focused on the advancement of research in technology, medicine, psychology, physics, and astronomy among other disciplines, combining theory with experimentation and real-life application. She has also created various inventions, as well as designed medical and military equipment. She has innovated several new forms of science.

In April 2021, Simenona released The Alma Project, which is a neurological training treatment and software for treating complex post-traumatic stress syndrome in patients with KLS, OCD and Autism Spectrum Disorder. It is helpful in treating veterans, refugee, and victims of violent, war or sex crimes.

In the summer of 2022, Simenona released her photography collection, Capture Unknown: Volume 1, Volume 2, Volume 3, Volume 4, Volume 5, Volume 6, and Volume 7.

Previous Conference:

- Annual Women in Pain Conference

Simenona suffers from Lupus, and she is involved in raising awareness and donations in order to find a cure for the disease. She is involved in various other charities, and her production company often produces public service announcements for these causes.

She has worked directly with the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC) and played an integral part in developing the new system through which alerts of missing children will be automated to increase distribution and awareness. In addition, she is an advocate for the rights and interests of medical patients. Simenona is involved in much philanthropic work.

- Lupus-LA – Coordinator/Walker/Fundraiser
- March of Dimes – Coordinator/Walker/Fundraiser
- AIDS Foundation – Coordinator/Walker/Fundraiser
- San Francisco LGBT – Coordinator/Walker/Fundraiser
- ALS – Coordinator/Walker/Fundraiser
- Compassion Child – Fundraiser
- Running for Lupus – Supporter
- San Diego Homeless Shelters
- Alexandria House – Shopping/Daycare

Thank you,
Simenona Martinez
415.774.6361
Simenona@SimenonaMartinez.com